

A three issue series published January of 2004 on a bimonthly schedule. With the exception of those individuals who are clearly parodied as a means for me to vent my various psychological and emotional dilemmas, all characters are fictional. Everything in this book belongs to me, Jon Adams. Unless of course, you've removed the staples and inserted your own pages, in which case, they probably don't belong to me. Please don't reproduce images from this book unless you're reviewing it and please don't plagiarize me. Also, please don't tear this book up and send it back to me with a request for a refund. First printing, printed in Canada.